Personal Website - (None known)

Ray Scott was a lecturer and head of Law and Accounting at the Folkestone College of Technology, passionate about long distance swimming but would not claim to be a swimmer. Channel swimming became his life. Nothing was too much trouble for he and his wife, IMSHOF Honoree Audrey, who ran the Channel Swimming Association for 33 years. Ray served as Chairman from 1960– 1993 and then as Secretary from 1993– 1994 after Audrey died. Ray acted as an Association Observer for over 300 swims (his first was in 1950) and was present on many of the great occasions in Channel swimming history. In 1975 Ray and Audrey Scott were presented the Irving Davids / Captain Roger W. Wheeler Memorial Award for their contributions to the administration of open water swimming.
